DOTHEN, Ala., October 15th, 2 a. m .- Special.]—The country from the Chattahoocheo river is a waste barren wilderness, except its native pine growth, for three hundred and twenty-two miles. THE CONSTITUTION, with Mayor O'Nell, of Bainbridge, and Operator Haygood, rode on the special engine, and in order to make the time made ourselves handy, taking in wood and assisting the fireman. In this stretch of country

THE WILD FOX STILL DIGS HIS HOLE unscared, and the rank thistle shakes his head in the wind. It is the veritable county, for deeds of violence as one looks out from the moke and sparks of the engine. No one, until we reached Dothen, knew any particulars of the tragedy, which has put the town in mourning, and of course, with flying reports in our ears, we thought it probable that THE CONSTITUTION would have some trouble in gaining an entrance, but judge our surprise when the engine rolled up, and

A DELEGATION OF PROMINENT CITIZENS of the town was down to greet and welcom the greatest of southern newspapers, viz: Dr. R. D. Carroll, Dr. F. R. Moody, A. B. Carroll, and J. J. Askew, who escorted us up to Dr. Moody's office, when we were met by his honor, Mayor A. C. Crawford who, makes the following statement of the terrible tragedy enacted in his town at four o'clock yesterday wounded in the leg.

THIS RIOT GREW out of the town council passing an ordinance Imposing faxes on drays in the town. On the 12th inst. G. M. Stringer, now deceased, proprietor of the alliance warehouse, which is just oulside of the corporation, who had a rayman hauling cotton to said warehous from within the incorporation, upon being notified that it was against the ordinance, refused to haul further and threw up his job. Thereupon G. M. Stringer said that he would DRIVE THE DRAY HIMSELF,

Independent of the town authorities. He then undertook to drive the dray, and Marshal Domingos told him to consider himself under arrest, and he would help him unload the cotton which he did. After this Stringer resisted arrest, and jumped on the marshal with his knife. A tussel ensued, the marshal receiving a slight wound across the right cheek and inflicting a slight wound on Stringer's head with a club. The marshal and deputy marshal subsequently arrested Stringer, carried him before his honor, and he was con victed and appealed to the circuit court of Henry county. He then took out a warrant for Domingos and the deputy for assault with intent to murder, which was set for hearing today. Upon the calling of the case today it was continued until tomorrow. Immedia afterward this difficulty occurred. On the 12th

VENGEANCE ON THEIR HEADS. The alliance felt that they ought to have the right of free drayage to their warehouse. The mayor said:

"The first of the difficulty was B. Stringer, standing with a large knife in his hand, and the marshal went forward, but before reaching Stringer he made at Domingos with his knife, whereupon Domingos commenced to use his club, and succeeded in bringing Stringer to the ground. At that time G. M Stringer stepped up with a pistol wrapped in a handkerchief. I stepped between him and Domingos, and told him to stop. He punched me with the barrel of his pistol, and warned me to stand out of his way or he would shoot me, which I did, and immediately

At that period they began clubbing each other over their heads with their pistols, when the parties were separated and began firing at each other again, and fired until Stringer fell, the fatal shot striking him just over the left eye. This was G. M. Stringer. At that time Wm. Newberry, another alliance man, stepped up and began firing at Domingos, inflicting a mortal wound. Newberry also shot at Parker Powell, who turned FIRED BACK AT HIM, missing bis mark. The five in the fight were Domingos, Powell, the two Stringers and William Newberry. The others wounded were from the shots of this quintette."

Dothen is a small town about one year old, with 800 people, having sprung into existence in anticipation of the Alabama Midland railroad, which now runs in half a mile of its public streets. There has been no feud whatever between the alliance and the town, On the other hand

THE BEST OF FEELING has existed and only the spot about the city ordinance in reference to dry license, has set the country hereabout upon its ear. Mayor Crawford who is a very intelligent gentleman, avers that the people of the town sincerely regret the occurrence. He feels that by this murderous affray the town is placed before the world with an unenviable reputation, but believes that a discriminating public, with the true facts in the case, as narrated by him to THE CONSTITUTION, in their minds, will settle the case in the scales of EVEN HANDED JUSTICE.

It is but just to the police of the town to say that they performed their duty like brave men will, perhaps, yield their lives as a testimonial to their heroic attempt to preserve the peace and good order of their little community. marshal has a wife and five children. and the deputy marshal a wife and three children, all of whom have their ympathy of this entire people.

AN ALLIANCE MAN SPRAKS. I have seen Mr. Kelly, vice president of the local alliance, and he claims that the town has very badly treated and discriminated against the alliance folks, and that the trouble has not in any manner ended. He says that the merchants will not buy cotton at market values if controlled by the alliance, and that they do all they can mentioned. It is but just to say THE CONSTI TUTION could find no alliance man to interview, save Mr. Kelly, in the limited time at its disposal, and hence the bulk of this telegram is from the town entirely.

The sheriff has a large posse under arms tonight, sufficient it is thought, to guard the

Although the air is full of threatenings, and several hundred men of the alliance are within easy cail, there is no telling what an hour will bring forth. Dothen is in a wilderness into which the iron arms of civilization are just reaching, and it is pleasant to know that in such a calamity as this which now affects us, THE CONSTITUTION is the first vehicle to carry the news to the ends of the earth. THE JURY BRIBERY

Latest Development in the Chicago Sensa CHICAGO, October 14.—At ten o'clock this morning Judge McConnell's branch of the criminal court was called to order and court announced that the only business to be transacted was the appointment of a special bailiff to summon veniremen in the Cronin case. He said that Baliff Carolan, who had been doing that work, had resigned on account of illhealth. In Carolan's stead, the court appointed Charles L. Bonney, a young business man of American birth and ancestry. State's Attorney Longenecker says that Bailiff Carolan has made a statement of the circumstances under which he summoned two"fixed" venire men and that his statement is perfectly satisfactory and exonorates him from all su picion in the matter.

Excitement about the criminal court was se intense this afternoon, it was necessary to

LOCK AND BAR THE OUTSIDE DO John Graham, clerk in A. S. Trude's office, who is now under indictment, was arrested Sunday night about 12 o'clock, and has been under lock and key ever since. He was the man who was to put up the money with which to bribe the jurors, and it is asserted that Judge Longenecker says that the evi-dence against him is very conclusive. After presenting indictments, the grand jury ad-journed for the afternoon, but the states atjourned for the alternoon, but the states attorney says the case by no means ends with the presentment, but will be much more far reaching than the most sanguine can suppose. Judge McConneil's court met at 2 p. m., but proceedings there were uneventful. The work of securing a jury was resumed from veniremen summoned by the new bailiff appointed this morning.

This evening it was learned from the state's attorney that Clerk Graham is the supposed "prominent citizen," whose mysterious confinement in the Chicago avenue and Larrabee street police stations, gave rise to so many surmises. Graham gave $10,000 bond this evening and was released.

ONE MAN SHOT TO PIECES, And, if Reports Be True, He Has Bad Enough of It.

GRIFFIN, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—Information reached the city this morning that Will Wells had shot Polk Davis all to pieces at Creswell. The closest questioning of par-ties from the scene of the accident failed to develop any cause for the shooting, or the extent of the injuries sustained by Davis. There are three rumors afloat, and I give them all. One is that Davis had loaned Wells $4 in a game of cards, and upon his refusal to further advance to Wells a quarrel ensued, which reulted in the shooting. Another is that the two men were friends and that the shooting was accidental. It is hardly probable that the latter is true, since both men are considered pretty bad in a fight, The latest and in all probability the most authentic report comes from Charles Norton, who says that the parties began disputing in regard to the money Davis had loaned Wells as they were on their way home, and that Davis fired his gun in the air, whereupon Wells or dered Davis to "get down," and that Davis immediately did so in due and ancient form,

Whether the remains have been taken or not is not known at present, as the authorities are waiting the return of Dr. Edward Emerson, the philosopher's son, who has been telegraphed for. A watch was at once placed at the grave, but the general opinion here is that the miscreants accomplished their object and secured at least the skull, which was probably what they were after. There is great indignation here.

STEALING A STATE. MONTANA ABOUT TO BE WRESTED

FROM THE DEMOCRATS.

CHICAGO, October 14 .- A special from He

BY THROWING OUT A PRECINCT VOTE

Which Will Give the Republicans a Majity on Joint Ballot in the Legislature

ena, Mont., to a morning paper says: Colonel Seligman, chairman of the repub lican central committee, announces that the republicans certainly have the legislature, either by one or three majority. Official re-turns from Beaver Head county, elect James P. Bennett (republican) to the lower house and Henry Bear (republican) is awarded the seat from Deer Lodge by a majority of 4. Both these seats have heretofore been counted for the democrats. The count in Silver Bow county, of which Butte is the county seat, has been completed, but republican counsel have protested against counting the returns from the eighth and thirty-fourth precincts Ar guments have been made before the board by counsel for both sides. If these precincts are thrown out it cts are thrown out it precincts county officials and seat the republican state senator and two representatives from this county. Republican arguments were supple-mented by affidavits alleging fraud in the 34th precinct, Objections to returns from the 8th precinct are purely technical. Both give democratic majorities. The total membership of the legislature is 71, and by the above calcula tion the republicans have 36, and probably 37. The canvass in Lewis and Clarke county (Helena) is still incomplete. The legislative vote is not yet counted. The democrats are alarmed at the outlook, and Marcus Daly has been summoned here from Anaconda to consult with Colonel Broadwater, ex-Governor Hauser and other leading democrats. The In-dependent, democratic organ, charges the republicans with an attempt to steal the legislature and the two United States senators.

THE REPUBLICANS JUBILANT. St. Paul, Minn., October 14 .- A Pioncer-Press special from Helena, Mont, says. The news from Butte that Silver Bow county canvassing board had thrown out Homestake tunnel precinct, which gave a democratic majority of 160 out of 172 votes, was received here with jubilation by the republicans and dismay by the democrats, because, if the courts sustain the decision of the canvassing board, it will insure republican control of the state legislature. Party feeling runs pretty high and the is much excitement ozer the news, but the general sentiment is that the matter will be left to the courts to adjudicate.

AN INTERESTING COMPLICATION, however, will probably ensue over this mat ter. Without Silver Bow county the republicans would control both branches of the legis lature. Should the governor call that body together before the contest is settled a suffi-cent number of democratic members to pre-vent a quorum would probably-stay away so that he would probably be without a legisla that he would probably be without a legisla-ture until the supreme court decides the dis-pute. Another interesting feature is its effect-upon the governorship. Toole will not be in-augurated unless it is patent that he is elected without a big majority of the rejected pre-cinct. As the returns are now declared officially from every county in Montana, the legislature stand: Senate—republicans, 8; democrats, 28. House—republicans, 30; demo-crats, 25.

THE SUPREME COURT'S VIEW. That Body Differs With the Legislature and

Declares Its Act Null and Void. The first act of the legislature at its present session which has come before the supreme court for review was on yesterday declared by that court to be unconstitutional, null and void. The decision is specially important to the citizens of Fulton county, as the act in question required the levy of a special tax for the payment of insolvent costs due itors of the city court of Atlanta.

itors of the city court of Atlanta.

These gentlemen came before the legislature last summer with a bill for the full amount claimed to be due them, Mr. Glenn's account amounting to about $10,000, and Mr. Ellis's to about $4,000. These amounts represented a balance, their costs having been already collected in cases where the parties fund was sufficient. They asked that the people of the county be subjected to a tax for its payment. The county commissioners came before the commit The county commissioners came before the commit-tee that had the bill in charge, and objected. The bill was finally passed, requiring a levy of the tax for the payment of not more than half nor less than a firth of the amount claimed, the amount within these limits to be fixed by the county commission-

The county commissioners declined to levy the tax, and the question came before Judge Marshall

The case was then carried to the supreme court, with the result above announced.

Justice Simmons delivered the opinion of the court.

He clied the provision of the constitution that "the general assembly shall not have power to delegate to any county the right to levy a tax for any purpose," except certain purposes specified, one of which is "expenses of courts." Counsel admitted, he said, that unless these costs were "expenses of courts," the act was unconstitutional. The court did not think that such costs were "expenses of courts" within the meaning of the constitution. This meaning was to be gathered from the usual and common construction placed upon the words at the time the constitution was adopted. If they were "expenses of courts," there would be no need for a special act of the legislature to require their payment, for the law already provided for their payment, the judge of the superior court having the power to compet payment of all necessary expenses of the court. Moreover, the constitution forbids the legislature to enact special laws where provision has already been made by an existing general law.

To the argument that the legislature has the power to define what the constitution means by "expenses of courts," Judge Simmons replies that this may or may not be true, but if true the legislature has not done so in this act, because the act does not refer to these cost as "expenses of court," but as claims due Messrs, Elis and Glenn as former so lleitors of the court.

He says it may be true that it is a great hardship

He says it may be true that it is a great hardship upon such officers to compel them to serve the public without compensation, but it is the duty of the court to declare what the law is, and not what the court to declare what the law is, and not what it ought to be.

The ophnion incidentally makes the criticism upon the act that if these costs were expenses of the court, they should be paid in full, and not twenty per cent thereof.

Judge Simmons concludes as follows: "Let us adhere to a strict construction of the constitution, at least so far as taxing the people is concerned. No man knows how soon the legislature, the city government and county government may be in the hands of non-tax payers. These restrictions which are now so much complained of will then be asheled to the property owners of the state, and apharrier to the property owners of the state, and albarrier against those who desire to put their hands in the

THE FIRST DAY OF THE GREAT DRILL

At Pledmont Exposition Grounds—The Con panies That Drilled Yesterday and Those That Will Drill To Day.

Yesterday was a great day for Georgia's volunteer soldiery.

And it was also a great day for the exposi tion and the thousands of visitors that were within its gates.

It was the opening of the first real competi-tive drill that has been held in Atlanta in a number of years. The day was an ideal one for such an event, bright and sunny, with cool, bracing breeze, and all in all a drill never began under more auspicious circum-The state companies, the only ones competing yesterday, were among the handsomest and best of the superb military organizations of which Georgia boasts. The uniforms were beautiful, and the sunlight glistening on the shining arms and equipments, made a sight than which a more brilliant or thoroughly attractive one could hardly be imagined.

All the maneuvers were splendidly executed, and at times the applause was so enthusiastic that the judges had to wave down the shouting multitudes in the grand stand. But yesterday was only a foretaste of what is te be today, when the petted companies of the southern states will vie with each other for the mastery of arms.

It will be such a day as comes but seldom a day that will be long remembered by soldiers as well as citizens. All the contestants are here ready and eager for the gauge of battle, and it is generally conceded that a more closely contested drill never occurred in the south than that which will take place today. The city was alive yesterday and last night with strangers, who came to see to-day's great-contest. All the hotels were crowded to their fullest capacity, and the visitors were turned over to the care of private families. Late last night Macon sent a large addition to her dele-

THE SQUAD DRILL YESTERDAY. Yesterday's contest was opened with a squad drill, open to any company. The prize was a handsome silver cup, valued at $100, and the entries were the Perry Rifles, the Southern Cadets and the Branswick Riflemen, each puting up four men and a commanding officer.

Promptiy at 11 o'clock the squad of the Perry Rifles came on the ground, just in front of the grand stand. Captain Davis com manded, the team being Sergeant Cater, Corporal Ragin and Privates Davis and Felder. Their drill was neat and regular, but several errors were made that will tell on them when

Following the Perrys came the Brunswick Riflemen, commanded by Captain Morris. They put up a good drill and were cheered several times. The squad of the Southern Cadets, consisting of Sergeants Wyly and Thomas and Corporals Craig and Bradford, in command of Captain Roff Simms was greeted with an ovation. Captain Simms and his squad did almost perfect work, and the audience at least coneded them first place in the squad drill.

Neither of the Atlanta companies entered for the squad contest, though it was expected that both would show up.

THE STATE COMPANIES' DRILL. On the programme it was announced that the state contest would commence at 11 o'clock, but the Floyd Rifles, who had drawn first hour, failed to appear.

A conference was held between the judges Lieutenants Stone, Hodson and Hughes-and after some time it was decided to allow them an hour, the second place company drilling in

The team was: Captain W. C. Davis,

Fourth four-W. E. Bunnell, M. W. Havis, E. E. King and H. W. Fuller.

Captain Davis marched his men close up to the judges' stand, presenting them with flank to the grand stand. The uniform was gray, to the grand stand. The uniform was gray, with blue and white trimming and blue French caps. Altegether it was striking, and caught the people in the grand stand. The Rifles had the disadvantage of being the first to drill on the ground, which was very rough and soft. This gave them quite a little trouble, and considering this their drill was good. Just thirty minutes were consumed by this company, being ten less than the time allowed under the rules and regulations of the contest. Several of the evolutions by the Rifles were very good, especially the wheels, which were applauded several times.

THE ELOYD RIFLES made their appearance on the field, at ten

The Macon company was uniformed in gray coats and blue breeches, with white shakos and leggings. They were the finest looking body of men on the field, large and soldierly looking. Their drill was almost perfect, and when they came off the field, it was generally conceded that they would be the prize winners.

This captured the crowd, and paved the way for an enthusiastic reception to the Brunswick boys. Their drill was pretty and deserved the applause which it received.

TODAY'S DRILL.

Five of the best companies in the country will participate in today's contest. Here they are and the order in which they will drill: The Southern Cadets, of Macon, will enter the field first. The Alabamians, the Jefferson Volunteers, of Birmingham, will follow the Rifles at twenty minutes past eleven. This is said to be one of the best companies in the south, and something extraordinary is expected of it.

Then at twelve the Gate City Guard, in its old blue and gold uniform, will appear. And they are sure of an enthusiastic reception.

Ohio will show her hand at 12:40. The Phoenix Light Infantry, of Dayton, is not so well known in the south as at the north, but if reports be true, the isouthern boys will not have a walk-over by any means.

THEIR LADY FRIENDS.

THEIR LADY FRIENDS. An incentive to victory to the Atlanta companies will be the lovely young ladies who have been chosen as sponsors and maids.

Miss Miriam Armstrong will act as sponsor for the Guard. Her maids are Miss Mary Ella Ried and Miss Willie Bell.
Miss Jim Wyly has been chosen by the Riffes, and her maids are Misses Effie Howell, These young ladies are ansest the flowers.

These young ladies are among the loveliest and most popular in Atlanta, and their inspiring presence, arrayed in their company colors, will doubtless prove a great incentive to the Guard and Rifles.

They had not even asked each others names.

The dead man was a stout, well built man, of about fifty years, short, gray beard and hair nearly gray. He was very poorly clad in a ragged brownish suit, coarse breeches and heavy shoes, the worse for wear.

There was no laing found on his person except a small runes containing fifty.

small purse containing fifty cents; a scrap of paper on which was written in pontil:
"Reynolds one mile from the Lewis farm on the Federal road."

As the old Federal road passes near the town of Reynolds, Ga., it is probable that these were directions given him while tramping through that section of country.

tions given him while tramping through that section of country.

He had a lunch of cold scraps wrapped in a piece of paper, and besides these articles there was nothing on his person, and no possible clew to his identity.

The body was taken up by the train men and brought to the city, where it was turned over to Wyley & Barclay, the undertakers, who propared the b.dy for burial. It was found that the left foot was cut off at the ankle, and an ugly wound in the right temple showed the cause of the death of the wanderer.

This morning at nine o'clock Judge Landrum acting coroner, will hold an inquest on the remains.

Strange to say this is the third man who has been killed at that point, and none of them were ever identified.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS SHUT OUT IN NEW

REVENGE OF ELECTRIC COMPANIES.

The Principal Part of the Great City in Utter Darkness - Citizens Feeling Their Way to Their Homes.

NEW YORK, October 14.—It has now been decided that all electric light wires above ground must go. All companies doing business in the city have gotten out injunctious restraining thel mayor from interferring with their wires, but the way around these injunctions has been discovered. Under the laws of the state, no injunction can be served on the board of health unless eight days' notice has been given, and should the court this afternoon make the injunctions against the mayor permanent, the board of health will take the matter in hand. and before the eight days have passed, not a wire will be left above the ground.

THE CITY IN DARKNESS.

The sudden determination of the Brush and United state companies today to shut off their city circuits plunged a large section of the city into darkness tonight, the time being too short to arrange for the lighting of thousands of gas lamps which have fallen into disuse since the introduction of electricity. In Madison square and Union square parks, around which the life of the city clusters at night,

ALMOST IMPENETRABLE GLOOM REIGNED, and pedestrians in crossing the open squares were obliged to take their bearings from hotel and theater lights. A large number of streets were also darkened, and on that portion of Broadway occupied by commercial houses, closed at nightfall, the scene was dismal. The sky was starless, and the clouds served to intensify the effects produced by the absence of artificial light. Late in the afternoon, the two companies notified Superintendent Murray of their determination and he ordered the captains of police precincts to instruct their commands to exercise extravigilance, the darkness giving additional protection to the criminal classes. The Brush company furnished the following list of streets which it had left in darkness: Broadway, Seventh avenue, from Fourteenth to Fifty-ninth streets; Fourteenth, Twenty-Third, Thirty-Fourth and Foity-Second streets from river to river; Fifth avenue from Twenty-Sixth to Fifty-Ninth streets; Fifty-Ninth street from Broadway to Sullivan streets; Irving Place from Fourteenth to Twentieth streets; Fourth avenue from Fourteenth to Forty-Second streets; Madison square and Union square and uni

District Attorney Fellows had a consultation today with Mayor Grant, relative to electric wires in general and the death of Lineman Feeks in particular. Colonel Fellows assured the mayor that if the line which killed Feeks were discovered indictments would follow. The grand jury, however, has virtually to await the coroner's investigation. A NARROW ESCAPE.

MR. MARKENS AND HIS WIFE BADLY HURT.

A Freight Train Backs Into a Carriage Car rying a Prominent Citizeu and His Wife to the Depot-The Driver Badly Hurt.

Mr. George Markens, his wife and a hackman named John Smith escaped death last night by almost a miracle.

A freight train on the East Tenneessee road ran into the carriage in which they were cross-ing the railroad tracks at Mitchell street and broke it to atoms. All the occupants of the vehicle were thrown out and injured painfully. Several doctors, however, who hastened to the scene pronounced the driver to be the only one a dangerous condition. Last night Mr. Markens expected his cousin,

Mr. Friedlander, of Florida, to arrive in At lanta, and he determined to go with his wife and child to the East Tennessee depot to meet him. Mr. Markens lives with his family at the Leyden house. When he started from there at 7 o'clock the wind was so bitterly cold that Mrs. Markens objected to taking her hild, and the little one was taken back and left in charge of the nurse.

This change had occupied so much time that

Mr. Markens feared to miss the 7:30 train. An Mr. Markens feared to miss the 7:30 train. An empty hack passed just at that moment, and he halied it. When the driver started he was told to drive fast. The man obeyed orders and in five minutes he was approaching the depot. As he passed the Central railroad office the electric lights about the East Ten nessee platform cast a blaze of light across the tracks and showed a clear way.

The small signal house obstructs the view of the tracks in one direction, and a line of freight cars hid approaching trains from the other. Just as the carriage got squarly across the last track a car rushed out of the darkness. The driver saw it coming and struck his horse with the whip. The animal gave a spring but it was too late. Mr. Markens had just enough time to throw his arms about his wife when the collision came. A second later a shattered heap of splinters was all that remained of the carriage, and two motionless figures lay apparently under the wheels of the freight car.

Several men who were near ran to their as-Several men who were near ran to their asmistance. They found Mr. Markens still clasping their power to ease their pain. While Mr. and Mrs. Markens were being taken to the house, a search was being made for the driver, For a few minutes he could not be found. A groan from the wreck of the carriage gave notice of his whereabouts and he was found crushed between the dashboard and the body of his carriage. He was extricated with some difficulty and taken to the waiting room of the depot. When Dr. Nic-olson arrived he had him removed to his office, and on a closer examination found that several ribs were broken, his shoulder was dis and he had probably received internal injuries.

After Mr. and Mrs. Markens had recovered consciousness they were both found to be badly bruised. Neither of them could walk without great pain, but no bones were broken. They were assisted into a hack and taken to the Leyden house, where their own physi

"My little sister, four years of age, was so ill from bronchitis that we had almost given up hope of her recovery. Our family physician, a skilful man and of large experience, pronounced it useless to give her any more medicine; saying that he had done all it was possible to do, and we must prepare for the worst. As a last resort, we determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and I can truly say, with the most happy results. After taking a few doses she seemed to breathe easier, and, within a week, was out of danger. We continued giving the Pectoral until satisfied she was entirely well. The following is the speech taken stenographically by Dr. Coledge: In response to calls, Mr. Walsh spoke as fol-

In response to calls, Mr. Walsh spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: It gives me great pleasure to be here upon this occasion as the guest of my honored friend, Mr. Spalding, who extended to me, as he did to yourselves, a pressing invitation to be with him tonight. He seemed to lay special stress upon the fact, on account of my well-known position in reference to a great economic question, that he desired me to be here. But it gives me pleasure, my friends, to state here, and to state everywhere, that I am a democret first, and as to the economic question it is simp y a matter upon which men may differ honestly, but when the party has spoken those who are in the minority should always gracefully submit to the will of the majority. Applause.]

I am in favor, as much as any democrat, of tariff revision, tariff reduction, tariff reform. [Applause.]

Having an abiding conviction, however, that our

of tariff revision, tariff reduction, tariff record.
[Applause.]
Having an abiding conviction, however, that our success politically and materially, both as a party and a nation, is based upon protection to our manua facturing industries. I do no violence to the history and teachings of the democratic party from Jefferson to Cleveland in advocating the policy of a tariff for revenae with incidental protection to our industries. It is not inconsistent with this position to maintain that every dollar that is taken from the pockets of the people of this country, over and above what is necessary for an honest and economical administration of the government, is public robbery. [Applause.]

pockets of the people of this country, over and above what is necessary for an honest and economical administration of the government, is public robbery. [Applause.]

But, while reforming and revising and reducing the tariff, it should be done upon the basis of incidental protection, and not upon that of free trade. The policy which has built up sterile and frigid New England, and made it the great money power of this country, the treasury, so to speak, of the republic, is good for the development of the south which is blessed beyond any section of our union with minerals, and agricultural and manufacturing resources. The economic policy that has built up the eastern and middle states, if applied to the south for the next ten or twenty years, will make it the greatest and most prosperous section of this union. I have no personal interest in advocating a protective tariff. As a member of the democratic party, as a citizen of the south, I advocate that line of policy and when a man feets a strong conviction that a certain line of economic policy, which is broad and national, which has built up, and made great and properous other sections of this country, it is his duty to advocate it. We know, the causes which have heretolore operated against the industrial development of the south. These was a long period in the history of the country, when we were almost entirely an agricultural community, when we failed to develop our mines and neglected our manufacturing interests, when our people believed in the policy of free trade. But the industrial conditions of the south have entirely changed, and there no longer exists a valid objection to incidental protection.

Primarily, agriculture is the basis of our national wealth, but we find that our interests and industries, other than those that are exclusively agricultural, have increased magically within thirty years.

In 1860 the value of the manufactures produced was $1,85,801,676. In 1883 the value has increased to 97,000,000,000, as against $4,000,000,000 of farm produ

The mere statement of these figures prove that The mere statement of these figures prove that our country is developing industriously, as at no other period in her history, and that the more the south diversifies the sooner will her farming interests prosper, and the sooner will her farming interests prosper, and the sooner will her financial power and political influence exert themselves in the commerce of the country and the administration of the government.

The democratic party has always been the friend of the toiling masses. It has been the friend of labor and of manufactures, and is as much so today as it ever was.

of the tolling masses. It has been the friend of labor and of manufactures, and is as much so today as it ever was.

No man would go tarther to lessen the burdens of the farmer and to improve his condition than I would, and in advocating what I believe to be the best interest of the south, I am satisfied that so soon as our mining interests and manufacturing industries are fully developed the farmers of the south will enter upon a new and presperous era. With all the natural conditions of soil and climate; with inexhausible mines of coal and iron; and with unlimited manufacturing possibilities, there is no reason why the south should not become the greatest and the most prosperous section of the union.

But, Mr. Chairman, I did not intend to say as much as I have said. I did not intend to discuss this matter. I feel deeply upon this question. I love the democratic party. I love Georgia and the south. My position has been that the south, now that she has the long wished-for opportunity, that capital is flowing into every state to diversify her industries, should take advantage of the protective tariff that has heretofore done so much for the eastern and middle states, which do not compare in natural advantages and resources with the south.

I desire to say in this presence, as a democrat, that no man in Georgia appreci tes more than I the pure, strong and healthy administration of Grover Cleveland. His administration will live in history as one of the cleanest and grandest that has ever hlessed our country. [Loud applause.]

history as one of the cleanest and grandest that has ever hiessed our country. (Loud applause.)
The republican party is a party of isms. It was born in sectionalism and lives on sectionalism. It still wars upon the south and threatens by national legislation to usurp the power over elections that belong exclusively to the states.

The democratic party finding its adherents and supporters in every state is national in its operations and patriotic in its purposes. Whatever differences may exist between them upon questions marely of economic policy there are higher and grander principles that unite them in the indivisible bonds of political brotherhood, the supremacy of our civilization and the control and administration of the affairs of our state governments. (Applause.) ernments. [Applause.]
I thank you, Mr. Chairman. I listened with pleasure to your beautiful homily, and also to the eloquent remarks of my distinguished friend, Senator dubiguon.

LADY OF THE HOUSE — Do you still like our Charter Oak Store as well as when we first got it, Mary?

SERVANT—Oh, every bit as well, Ma'am.
LADY OF THE HOUSE—I am expecting a friend to take dinner with us next week, on purpose to show her how nice our store cooks everything, and I want you to have a nice dinner for us, SERVANT—Indeed I will, Ma'am. There's no trouble to cook nice with that store. The Wire Gause Oven Doors makes it so much easier than other stores I have been used to, and I have so much more time to make everything fust right. Just look at that roll! I never have bed luck with bread, biscuits or cake, now.
LADY OF THE HOUSE—Why, how do you explain it?

SERVANT—Well, I don't have to watch everything so close for fear it will burn. You know how careful you have to be with a baked custard, it is so apt to burn on top before it is baked through. The Charter Oak bakes it perfectly without any danger of burning, And then in roasting a turkey, I don't have to keep basting it every five minutes. It roasts beautifully brown without it, and without drying it up like the tight overs do. And you know how erisp the biscuits are without being hard and tough. You always praised my biscuits, but if it wasn't for the wire gauze oven door I know they wouldn't be near as nice. I hope I'll never have to cook anywhere again where they haven't got a Charter Oak Stove organge.

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION SENT TO ANY ADDRESS

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 15, 1889.

Does Not Meet the Requirements. When the motion to indefinitely postpone the Olive bill and substitutes was before the house last week, several members, admitting that this legislation was unnecessary and unwise, urged its adoption on the plea that the general assembly was under the constitutional duty of passing some law on this

They claim that they have sworn to support the constitution. That the last para-graph of article IV. of the constitution instructs the general assembly to enforce the provisions of that article, and that paragraph IV. of section II. prohibits the general assembly from authorizing any corporation to buy shares of stock or make any contract or agreement where these acts tend to defeat competition or encourage monopoly, and declares such contract or agreement void; that they must carry this into effect, and whether or not the particular legislation proposed will help or hurt the state is, they say, not therefore to be considered. It is manifest that this paragraph IV. does not Itself command that any legislation shall be passed. It prohibits the legislature from authorizing corporations to do certain things, and it declares those things when done void. Unless, therefore, the last paragraph of article IV. requires that every provision of every paragraph of this article shall be enforced by legislation, we must find some-thing outside the words of either paragraph which will require legislation to cripple it. Now it is very clear that no legislation is needed to prevent the general assembly from disobeying this paragraph IV. of section II. It is certain it would be absurd to pass laws forbidding the general assembly to do these things; it is manifest that it was never intended that the general assembly should by appropriate laws enforce this prohibition on the legislature and legislate against its own future action. Hence, it is clear that the last paragraph does not contemplate that every provision of this article calls for appropriate legislation to enforce it.

But let us go through the entire article. Paragraph I. of section I. defines the nature of the right of taxation and forbids the general assembly or any other department of the government to irrevocably give, grant, limit or restrain these rights and declares all laws, grants, contracts, etc., so doing null and void. Has the general assembly ever thought that the mandate to enforce the provisions of this article by ap propriate legislation called for legisla tion to enforce this paragraph? Would any sensible man contend that it did not enforce itself or was not intended to be Again paragraph II. of section II. of this article, regulating the exercise of the right of eminent domain and the police power and the authority of the general assembly in these respects, has been recognized as selfexecutory and as needing no legislation to make it fully operative. Would any sane paragraph III. of th tion II., forbidding the general assembly from relieving the forfeiture of a charter except on certain conditions, and declaring the effect of accepting any amendment to a charter, called for appropriate legislation to enforce it? We imagine that it would take a more reckless constitutional lawyer than any ever yet discovered to seriously maintain such a position.

A glance at paragraph IV. of section II. shows that it belongs to the same class of selfexecutory provisions as the paragraph above pointed out. Just as in paragraph I. of section 1., so in this paragraph IV. of section II. the general assembly is forbidden to pass laws authorizing certain contracts, and such contracts are declared null and void. What are the objects of such provisions? First, the prohibition of the legislature from authorizing certain things. Second, the declaring of such things if done to be null and void, so that no rights might be acquired by reason of them. A book full of statutes could not more effectively prohibit the legislature nor render the interdicted contracts more illegal and void.

But the important point is that unless it can be shown that each provision of each paragraph of this article is required to be enforced by appropriate legislation, then cannot be claimed that this last paragraph of the article requires the passage of a law to enforce any other paragraph unless it appears from an inspection of that paragraph itself that it calls for such legislation.

It must be admitted that section I. and paragraphs II., III. and IV. need no appropriate legislation and that this command as to appropriate legislation does not apply to We have shown it does not apply to paragraph IV., the paragraph under discussion, and it will not do to say it does unless some other reason for it can be shown. When once it is admitted that there are other paragraphs of the same article to which this mandate has no application, and that the major part of this paragraph, namely, the prohibition on the general assembly, needs no legislation to enforce it.

There are paragraphs I. and V. of section II. of this article prohibiting discrimination, vesting the power and authority in the general assembly to regulate rates and for ding rebates, etc., under suitable penalties to be prescribed, and it is these provisions that are to be enforced by suitable legislation -not the mere declaration of a legal consequence attending a void action. But there reasons why the constitution did not contemplate any legislation to carry into effect the mere declaration that certain contracts were to be illegal and void. When they were once so declared, any one against whom they were sought to be enforced could plead the illegality, and any one whose legal rights were impaired by their existence could proceed to have them and procedures to accomplish all these ends. and more would have been futile.

But even if this article of the constitution called for laws enforcing this particular provision, the constitution does not precribe how it shall be enforced, and the responsibility for the method employed rests with full force on each legislator. His oath of office, while requiring him to support the constitution, recognizes that the constitution itself is not an end, but a means to an end-namely, the welfare and prosperity of the state. It makes every legslator further swear that on all questions and measures, whether adopted to carry out the constitution or not, he will act as will, in his judgment, be most conducive to the nterests and prosperity of this state.

If the bill proposed as a method to carry out this provision of the constitution is not so conducive, clearly under their oath of office it is not appropriate legislation.

We have shown above that no provision i eeded to give to every person effected in their legal rights by any contract, denounced by the constitution, a complete remedy. This proposed legislation is not necessary for the protection of any of this class. It is designed either to introduce the state on the scene as the litigant plaintiff or to permit strangers in interest to use her name for the purpose of harassing corporations. This sort of legislation is not only not appropriate, but is vicious, debauching to the public morals and undemocratic in its character. When the constitutional convention had this article before it, it struck out provisions allowing any citizen, or the governor upon information, on his own account, from seeking to forfeit the charter of any corporation. It struck them out on the express ground that this would encourage 'unnecessary legislation' and "blackmailing litigation." This present bill offers fewer opportunities for blackmailing corporations than any other offered. It is idle to talk about the permission from the governor, etc., being any protection. Permission will be granted on the ex parte statement of persons wishing to bring suit in ignorance of the true facts.

The only difference between the Olive bill as it was originally and as it is altered by substitute, is that the first started with forfeiting the charter, and thus producing insolvency. The present bill proposes to impose such a fine and so impair the de fendant company's credit as in a short time to produce insolvency, thus forcing foreclosure and a practical dissolution o the company and loss of its charter.

But the bill is grossly undemocratic. It was never meant for the state of Georgia to be suing to redress alleged wrongs done to private citizens. If they have any legal right they can now bring their own suit. If they have no such right they ought not to be allowed to sue. This thing of having the state come in to bring these suits tha private parties ought to bring in the ordinary way is the very essence of paternal government. Again, as the state is not otherwise suable, when she comes into court by her attorney-general in the cases contemplated by this bill, the defendant railroad company could plead in the very suit that the state had damaged it thousands or perhaps a million dollars, by allowing their suit to be brought and it might turn out, as often i would, that some insolvent and irresponsible railroad rival had instigated the suit on false information. In such a case if a jury allowed large damages against the state fo such a course it would not be surprising.

Let the constitution stand as its framer intended. Let us avoid legislation which can accomplish so much of evil when it is admitted that its defeat would do no harm to any citizen of Georgia.

The railroad combination at which this bill is aimed does not fear its legal effect, but only the litigation and loss of credit is will bring. It has been operating practically for nearly three years and in that time freight rates have been reduced, railroad building has been very greatly increased-Georgia being for the last year the leading state of the union. A vast prospect of commercial independence and industrial development have been placed by it in our grasp. No act of wrong has been shown loward a single person, nor to any interest lependent on the railroads.

It is said the farmers of Georgia demand this legislation. We deny it. It is questionable if over one-tenth of them have ever attended the alliance meetings at which it has been indorsed and it is very certain that no explanation or opposition to it has ever been made in the alliance meetings. Whereever it has been understood, as in the State Agricultural society at Cedartown, the legislation has not been indorsed.

The talk about 60,000 farmers opposing approving it is the merest bosh, not worthy to impose on anyone. Whatever sentiment there is has been worked up by certain polticians who are using the Farmer's Alliance for their own selfish political purpose. We are entirely content to stand by the final judgment of the farmers of Georgia acting for themselves. It will not do for those who vote for this bill to shelter themselves behind an alleged constitutional mandateno such mandate exists-on the contrary, the people will expect them to act under their oaths so as to most conduce to Georgia's interest and welfare.

A Georgia Welcome.

A royal Georgia welcome awaits Governor

David Bennett Hill tonight. A nobler democrat, a more uncom-promising friend of the people than Governor Hill does not exist. The people of Georgia will feel proud to greet one who so worthily wears the honors of his own people, and while here Governor Hill may feel at home among friends and fellow countrymen.

The programme arranged for the reception is one adequate to the occasion, and will be expressive of our welcome to our distinguished visitor. The Alleged Jesup Lynching.

Several nights ago THE CONSTITUTION eceived from a Waycross correspondent, Mr. A. Weiss, who is the correspondent of the United Press associa the story of a lynching in Jesup. As it came from one who had previously furnished credible news, it was printed. The next day the correspondents at Waycross and Jesup were telegraphed to for a verification of the affair. The Jesup correspondent replied that the victim had been knocked off the train while passing under a bridge. Mr. Weiss, on the other hand, telegraphed such circumstantial details, maintaining the correctness of his first dispatch, that it, too, was published as tending to bring out the whole story.

As a result, THE CONSTITUTION has received a number of letters from citizens of Jesup, denying the truth of Mr. Weiss's statements. They claim that the victim came to his death in an accidental manner, and that while there had been a little trouble between the negro and several people in Jesup, that had nothing to do with his taking off.

This statement is made that the facts may be placed where they belong. The Dothen Tragedy.

The full details of a bloody tragedy which occurred in the interior of Henry county, Alabama, appear in our news columns this morning.

It was at a late hour last night when our trusted correspondent at Bainbridge, Colonel Ben E. Russell, wired the rumor of a tragedy miles away. At once he was instructed to hire an engine, engage a telegraph operator and stretch a wire, if necessary, to get the news. Colonel Russell fulfilled his task admirably.

This means that THE CONSTITUTION is determined at all times to give the news.

The Cronin Murder.

Exceptions having been taken to an ed itorial in vesterday's Constitution entitled 'Cronin and Ireland,' we think it but just o make a few statements concerning it. The assertion that the murder of Cronin and killed the Irish cause and had greatly injured Parnell's campaign is stronger than the facts warrant.

The Irish cause is not, and never will be, dead cause. It is the cause of liberty. Home rule is the fight that the democratic party in this country is making. It is the cause of liberty the world over, and cannot n any wise be imperiled or injured by the indiscretion or the misguided judgment of partisans.

The Cronin assassination, even if it had been more important than it seems to be, could not seriously injure a cause that appeals to the hearts of all liberty-loving peo ple. The acts of ruffians cannot be imputed to the representatives of a brave people.

THE CONSTITUTION is now, and has always been, one of the strongest advocates of Irish home rule. It is the cause of democracy and of liberty, and no local event or any incident, however terrible, can change the minds of those who are determined to see Ireland free.

"I AM a democrat," says Governor David B. Hill. He will meet thousands of other demo crats at the Piedmont exposition.

RAILWAY POLICY.

The True Course for the Legislature t Pursue Outlined.

From the Brunswick, Ga., Times. BRUNSWICK, Ga., October 12.-To The Times: The writer, some years ago, published an article in a local paper entitled "The True Railroad At that time the Central was Policy for Georgia." At that time the Central was acquiring roads as feeders and practically blockad-ing Port Royal and Brunswick, the result being that nearly all the freights went to Savannab. The Montgomery and Eufaula road had been purchased, shutting off westward connection for the Brunswick and Albany road. Struggle as we might, we could and Albany road. Struggle as we might, we could get for this port little more than a barely local trade. The article was written at a time when it was rumored and believed that the Central invended the purchase of the Brunswick and Albany railroad, with a view to shut off all else from us.

The point made was that this policy was not beneficial to Savannah or the Central road of Georgia; that the time and brains and money ably but not wisely spent in crippling rival roads and cities could be far more wisely spent in reaching out across the territory of Georgia for some portion of the vast products of the west and southwest, then being carried to New York and Norfolk; that every pound of freight carried over Georgia soil to a Georgia post from across her borders increased her wealth, and that the combined efforts of railroads and senores in Georgia directed to that end would wealth, and that the combined efforts of railroads and seaports in Georgia directed to that end would benefit each greatly without the weste and loss incident to efforts to bottle up seaports and kill oft railroads. Only two years ago the Central's cotton territory was as far as possible sealed and shut up as against Brunswick buyers. But last season the gates were partially opened. The East Tennessee, also, which formerly came this side of Macon after cotton for Norfolk, and carried all the rest it could get to Savannah, recognizing that it had a port unsurpassed by any on the south Atlantic coast at Brunswick, two years ago commenced turning cotton to Brunswick. The cotton figures in the paragraphs, "The city we live in," show what its change in policy has done for Brunswick. The wonderful growth of our city in the past three years turning dotton to brunswick. The cotton in gures in the paragraphs, "The city we live in," show what its change in policy has done for Brunswick. The wonderful growth of our city in the past three years also demonstrates it. The change of ownership of the Brunswick and Western has under its wise management been a wonderful factor in our growth, changing the policy which carried everything which could be diverted at Waycross for Savannah, to a policy giving Brunswick, not only the full benefit of its local trade, but also opening to it a fair chance to compete in the territory of the Savannah, Florida and Western Railway company. Its connection with the Alabama Midlaud via the Savannah, Florida and Western, opens up also a magnificent territory in Alabama to our cotton and wholesale merchants. In the meantime Savannah has grown as it never grew before in its history; and this Savannah growth is a magnificent demonstration that the old and narrow policy of trying to kill off Brunswick and Western road as a possible rival of Savannah, and to kill off the Control was a wistake, and thest it was old and narrow policy of trying to kill off Brunswick as a possible rival of Savannah, and to kill off the Brunswick and Western road as a possible rival of the Brunswick and Western road as a possible rival of the Central, was a mistake, and that it was a mistake too for the Central and East Tennessee to be forever fighting each other, a mistake which hurts both roads and hurts the people as well, and that all Georgia interests have been advanced by the consolidation of her railroads into systems which rely largely for support upon the business of other states brought across our territory to our ports. Should the full scope of the plans of this consolidated system of roads be carried ont by connection with Gould's system of roads, the Georgia ports will all have business so far in excess of the dreams of their most ranguine citizens as to leave no time for rivary and no need for it. Knowing nothing but mere rumor of the ultimate plans of the Alabama Midland, it is predicted here that all less than two years it will become a great southwestern and western system; and the further prediction is made that the Louisville and Nashville will also reach a Georgia port with its own lines. There is but one thing which can defeat these glorious results for Georgia. That is unwise and narrow and restrictive legislation. If the legislature will keep its hands off, Georgia will grow great and powerful, her people prosperous and happy from the toil that the products of other states will pay as they pass over Georgia territory to Georgia ports. The gulf ports cannot compete with us, for we have advantages of quick dispatch and low insurance.

The meeting was a sall-factory and pleasant one in every respect. The election of Mrs. Harwood as president insures the school a thorough and conscientious power for good.

Much rogret was felt over Mrs. Grady's resignation of the presidency, which office she filled with great success and thorough satisfaction to all.

Mrs. Venable will give her daughter, Miss Mrs. Venable will give her daughter, Miss Lelia Venable, an elegant debut party at her home on Forest avenue the latter part of this month. It will be one of the most important and delightful affairs of the season. Mrs. Venable's handsome home has been entirely refurnished in the most magnificent style for her daughter's home coming, and all the powers of taste and wealth will go towards making her entrence into society a brilliant one. She graduated this year from Notre Dame seminary with high honors, and her beauty of person, charm of manner and many accomplishments assure her a place as one of society's reigning belles.

AT FEVER HEAT. THE GREATEST PRIZE DRILL EVER

HELD IN THE SOUTH. tion and Entertainment of Governo D. B. Hill and Our Distinguished Visitor Lively Betting on the Drill.

Opened October 7 .- Today will be great day for Atlanta and the exposition. The international drill and the arrival of Governor Hill .- Exposition closes November 2d.

. Everybody will be at the exposition today. The international drill, the Wild West and the races will all attract crowds.

And Governor Hill's arrival tonight Everybody will turn out to welcome him and his party.

He will reach here at 8 o'clock, and will b welcomed at the depot by the greatest crowd ever seen in the south.

A GREAT DAY AND GREATER PROGRAMME. Possibly today's military contest will be the greatest ever held in the south. Five of the best drilled companies ever assembled and the most evenly matched will contest for the largest prize ever offered in the south. While all of the companies are of equal excellence still the best evidence of the popularity of in erest in this contest is the fact that large bets were made last night of 20 to 15 that the Southern Cadets of Macon would defeat the Rifles the Gate City Guards and the Jefferson Volunteers of Birmingham, and even bets were made that the Phœnix Light Infantry, of Dayton, Ohio, would come off the

There is a great rivalry between the two hom companies and odds were being offered on the Rifles against the Gate City Guard. There should be not less than 20,000 people presen to see this great contest. The following is the programme for today:

10:30. Southern Cadets, of Macon.

11:10. Atlanta Rifles 11:50. Jefferson Volunteers, of Birmingham

12:30. Gate City Guard. 1:10. Phœnix Light Infantry, Dayton, Ohio 2 o'clock Comanche Bill's Wild West, full and complete show.

7 p. m. Wild West. The judges give notice to the military that any company failing to be on time will lose their position and take the chances of being debarred from the contest.

The attention of visitors who do not care to witness the drill is called to the fact that there are hosts of interesting attractions in and around the main building and machinery hall, such as is seldom ever presented in not only this but in any other country. NOW OUR VISITING STATESMEN WILL BE WELCOMED. By the new arrangements made Governo Hill and party will arrive at 8 o'clock via the Richmond and Danville railroad. All of our citizens are urged to be out and bid a hearty welcome to the Governor of the Empire state.

A delegation of citizens and members of the board of directors, headed by Judge Tompkins, Mayor Glenn, Mr. M. C. Kiser, Mr. Joe Kingsbery, Mr. Julius Brown, Captain James English, Messrs. Black, Gress and others will leave Atlanta at 4:30 on a special train and meet the visitors and their party at Gainesville, and act special escort to Atlanta. At the depot Governor Gordon's staff, the Atlanta and visiting infantry and the Young Men's Democratic club, with flambeau lights, will be on hand to escort the party to their headquarters. Emblazoned in fire stretched cross from the Kimball house will be the following device: "Welcome to David Bennett Hill." The carriage which will carry Governor Hill to the hotel will be covered with he choicest of flowers. On arriving at the Kimball house addresses of welcome will be delivered by Governor Gordon on behalf of the state, Mayor Glenn on behalf of the city and Mr. W. B. Hill on behalf of Young Mens' Democratic league, and every citizen should certainly be out and join in the royal welcome that will be extended to the distinguished party.

The military are urged to assemble at the Kimball house at 7:30 sharp, where instructions will be issued for the reception.

On Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, Governor Hill and party will be driven to the exposition, where they will attend the sports of that day, including the sham battle.

In the evening receptions will be tendered them by some of Atlanta's most prominent citizens.

On Thursday Governor Hill will be received by both houses of the legislature, driven around the gate city, dined by Governor Gordon, and in the evening witness the great pyrotechnic display at Piedmont park. The Great Sham Battle

The sham battle which takes place Wednesday at three o'clock will be the most attractive event that has taken place since the tractive event that has taken place since the bloody encounters of the late war.

The preparations and arrangement for this great event is perfect and complete in every detail and thoroughly understood by the participants. Ammunition has arrived and every-thing and everybody is ready for the fray.

The sham battle should be witnessed by 50,000 people and will doubtless be the great drawing card of the exposition.

While Wednesday's programme will be complete in every detail, Thursday's programme, which is Thanksgiving Day, also bookkeeper's day, will be one of the greatest of the exposiwhich is Thanksgiving Day, also bookkeeper's day, will be one of the greatest of the exposition; and on Thursday evening the greatest fireworks company in the world, Paine & Son, of London, will make their first display for the medal, which they have never failed to win where they have competed. The orphans have been invited to visit the exposition Thanksgiving Day, and it will be well worth a visit to see the little ones enjoy themselves.

En Route for Atlanta. En Route for Atla

WASHINGTON, October 14.-Governor Hill changed the time of his departure from 6 o'clock this evening until 9 o'clock, at which time he and his party continued their journey to Atlanta. After calling on the presiden Governor Hill visited Representative Randall of Pennsylvania. During the day the governor received invitations signed by the mayors, presidents of board of trade and other prominent citizens of Nash-ville, Chattanoga and Knoxville, Tenn., to make visits to those cities after leaving Atlan-ta. He was obliged to decline the invitation to visit Nashville, but has accepted invitation to stop at other places. His present programme is to leave Atlanta late next Thursday night for Chattanooga, where he expects to arrive Friday morning. He will remain there until about noon of that day and then leave for Knoxville, where he will arrive about 4 o'clock. He will remain there until late in the evening when he will leave for New York, reaching there on Sunday morning. John Inman, of New York, joined the party here today.

The ether prize for the best saddle mare of any age was won by John W. Jordan's gray mare.

Thursday will be bookkeepers' day at the exposition, and every bookkeeper in Atlanta ought to go out to the grounds on that day. The merchants ought to give their accountants one day, especially as it is Thanksgiving Day. When business is lively, and everything is in a rush, the bookkeeper is the ma who is kept at the office until midnight, receiving however, pay only for a day's work. The merchants owe this much to them, and a thousand bookkeepers ought be in line for the par be in line for the parade on Thursday morning. The meeting last night was an enthusiastic one. Already over four hundred bookkeepers have signed the call and entered for the parade, and over two hundred of them were at last night's meeting. The bookkeepers and their families will go to the exposition at least one day before it is over, and the merchants may as well arrange fo them to go out Thursday and swell the grand procession of Atlanta bookkeepers.

Exposition Notes. Comanche Bill is the head and front of the Comanche Bill is the head and front of the Wild West show on the exposition grounds. There seems to be some misunderstanding in his matter, and this is written for the purpose of making the facts public. The show it off, and in all its parts, is the result of the efforts of Comanche Bill, and the public ought to understand it.

Miss Mollie Broomfield, of Newton, N. C., exhibits a beautiful hand-knit linen lace nandker-obief. This kind of work requires great skill and patience, and as Miss Broomfield has been almost patience, and as miss brownfield has been almost completely disabled by rheumatism for the past twenty-two years, her artistic workmanship is something wonderful. These handkerbleds are sold at the low price of one dollar, and orders sent to Mr. R. O. Foard, No. 27 Markham street, will be promptly forwarded to Miss Broomfield.

The Bookkeepers Form an Organization and Prepare for the Exposition.

The bookkeepers of Atlanta held an enthusiastic meeting last night in the basement of the courthouse to organize for bookkeepers day at the exposition.

Mr. J. G. St. Amand called the meeting to order, and nominated Mr. W. Wolf as presi dent of the association. The motion was seconded by a dozen gentlemen, and Mr. Wolf was unanimously elected. Mr. W. F. Manry was then elected treasurer and Mr. A. C. Smith secretary.

Mr. Wolf addressed the meeting and explained the object of the association. He that the exposition managers had offered a day, and as he saw over two hundred a day, and as he saw over two hundred of the best known bookkeepers in Atlanta before him, he had no doubt that the offer would be gladly accepted. Messrs. St. Amand, Parker, Henderson, Johnson and Richards followed the president in enthusiastic addresses advocating the acceptance of the offer.

While the speeches were being made a committee waited on Mr. Grady and requested him to appear at the meeting and state the wishes of the exposition directors.

When Mr. Grady entered the room, he was greeted with shouts of welcome. He made an address which put the bookkeepers in good humor with themselves and the world generally. Before he retired, they agreed to guarantee that 200 would be in line on Thursday morning and march to the exposition grounds.

ally. Before he retired, they agreed to "guarantee that 200 would be in line on Thursday morning and march to the exposition grounds.

After Mr. Grady left, the meeting devoted themselves to business. They elected Captain R. J. Lowry as marshal, and U. E. Currier and A. W. Hill as first and second assistant marshals. It was decided to meet Thursday morning at 9:30 in the chamber of commerce, when badges would be distributed, and the same line of march as that taken by the drummers will be followed.

Some misunderstanding having arisen as to the privileges which would be conferred on the bookkeepers by their badges, a committee was appointed composed of Messrs. J. J. Gonzales, W. A. Parker, W. W. Richards, C. P. Cole and E. A. Speer to wait on the exposition committee and settle the matter. It was agreed between the two committees that a badge gave the wearer the privilege of entering the grounds and returning both during the day and night. This was agreed to as many of the bookkeepers seemed anxious to cast the drummers' procession into the shade and they will make every effort to do so. Although they guaranteed that 200 men would be in line they expect to have nearly twice that number. To obtain this end a committee of twelve, composed of Messrs. W. W. Wolf, chairman: J. J. tion Grounds.

Reh Winner lies at the point of death in the tent of her brave, Chief Ho-We-Ah.

The squaw of the chief of the Indians in the Wild West show is critically ill.

Her brave, Ho-We-Ah, or "Gap-in-the-Woods" in English, was at her side all yesterday, and would speak to no one except the interpreter, Dr. J. J. Sturm. Ho-We-Ah said that she was going to die, and Reh Winner was confident of it herself, for when Dr. Sturm went into her tent yesterday afternoon she was lying on her pallet very ill. She is much emaciated, having been confined to her tent for many days, but even when almost in the throes of death, upon her youthful and pleasant face was a sweet smile, and as Dr. Sturm asked how she felt, she replied in thei Comanche language "slightly better, but Reh Winner's going to the happy hunting grounds—Reh Winner must go. The great spirits has called her."

Then she closed her eyes, almost exhausted.

He was very deeply affected, and as he talked great tears rolled down his cheeks. He told the doctor that he did not want to bury her like the Indians had been burying their dead, but wanted to take her remains back to Ford Sill, Indian territory, and bury them in the grave yard there. He wanted to bury her like the white people bury their dead.

A telephone message from the exposition grounds late last night, was to the effect that Ho-We-Ah's squaw had passed the critical moment, and the physicians thought her chances of recovery were good.

But they were defeated in both, and it is persured that their last gun is fired, and they re ready to rest. Soon after the house met yesterday morning, It. Davis, of Burke, moved to reconsider atorday's action in concurring in the amend-nent allowing the extension to Atlanta. He supported his motion in a vigorous speech, which was replied to by Mr. Howell.

Mr. Hill, of Meriwether, made an exceding-Mr. Hill, of Meriwether, made an exceding-plainter speech in favor of reconsideration, charging that the amendment had not received a constitutional majority and that it ought not become a law until it had. If the extennon was authorized by an independent bill, would be a different thing, but coming as it did, it ought to be defeated.

Mr. Howell: "Would you vote for a bill only authorizing the extention?"

M. Hill: "I would vote for it a hundred dames before I would this."

Mr. Howell: "But would you vote for it?"
Mr. Hill did not reply, and Mr. Howell con-

"Ah, there's the milk in the cocoanut of thi opposition. They are now trying to defeat the measure by such tactics, when they see that we at last have them at equal advantage!" Mr. Perry, of Gilmer, said that the bill in be present shape satisfied its friends, and he boped the motion to reconsider would not pre-tail. The rules of both houses provide that a majority of those voting in one house can cencur in a legitimate amendment of the other, and that is just what the friends of this measure had done. He therefore moved to able the motion to reconsider.

On the call of the yeas and nays the motion to table prevailed by a vote of 52 to 48. This appeared to settle the matter, and the impression was that the opposition had finished.

But not so. In a short while Judge Harrell, of Webster, who has been an unvarying proponent of the road, sprung a resolution instructing the house judiciary committee to investigate and report on the constitutionality of the extension amendment becoming a law without having received a constitutional Judge Harrell spoke in favor of his resolu-tion, and Mr. Davis, of Elbert, replied, stating that it was a remarkable suggestion that the judiciary committee be empowered with the functions of the supreme court to pass upon the constitutionality of not only the work of the house, but of the senate. That was a matter for the courts. The resolution was tabled by a vote of 53 to 46, and the bill, as amended, was sent to the senate with a message of concurrence, the reading of which was received with applause

The bill was at once enrolled and signed by the presiding officers of both houses, and being handed to Governor Gordon by Mr. Howell, the executive signature was promptly at-

NEW YORK STOCKS Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, October 14.—The stock market was exceptionally feverish, unsettled and in portions weak, today, though the general run of railroad stocks were well supported and a few displayed undoubted strength. Industrial stocks were the weak spot in the market and they served to check the advancing tendency which was shown in the regular list whenever the pressure was lifted for a time, and the favorable bank statement of Saturday with higher figures from London this morning in foreign buying, made the opening of the market strong and higher, and Atchison early became a strong point in the market and a few other stock showed positive strength, among which Jersey Central and Cleveland, Columbus Cincinnati and St Louis were most prominent, the last named be ing bought by insiders with considerable talk of dividends and trusts resumed their old time prominence in the market and were raided vigorously throughout the entire day, and while most of the buying had the appearance of coming from insiders, there did not seem to be any real support in the market.

There was still no decision in the North River Refinary case, though it was held up as a bugbear to holders and would be buyers of sugar refiners. The stock was knocked off from $8 last saturday to 78½ and raillied stightly, but onother raid sent the price down to 76½ and it closed weak at 76½. Cotton of had an appearance of strength at the opening, but the stock was raided with sugar, and while there appeared to be sealed buying order, they were not of sufficient magnitude to stop the decline, and it dropped from $10.49½, recovering to 40½. Coal stocks, with the exception of Jersey Central, were rather weak, and Lackawanna was subjected to considerable pressure, as was also Missouri Pacific, but the impression insde upon them was slight. The market continued feverish and unsettled the entire day, and finally closed rather heavy, though the final orness were fractionally higher than those of Saturday in all but a NEW YORK, October 14.—The stock market tousy. All the options were lower at the cit comparison with Saturday, the losses ranging 5@18 points. Everything in the share of news was received from Liverpool and the south today was favorable to the bear element, and they were not slow in taking advantage of tt. First, Liverpo-1 came in easy at a decline of 1-64d and latera further decline of 2@3-64d was recorded, the market closing quiet and harely steady at the decline. Then again the southern advices on the condition of the crop was encouraging, and this fact, together with the total receipts at the ports aggregating 60,200 bales, as against 54,378 bales last year, which bales, as against 64,378 bales last year, which was nearly 7,000 bales more that the estimate, capped the climax. At the op ming the market was quiet and barely steady with prices ranging from unchanged to 263 points decline. The bulls made a stand and tried to rally prices by husding the shorts in October, but in the face of heavy offerings they were forced to retire. From that moment a general selling movement was inaugurated while continued up to the close, their the pressure of which prices sagged off slowly, closing at the lowest range for the day. The October option was made the principal point of attack by the bears, and declined 13 points. The traders who were most prominent in marking up the price of this option last week were the most aggressive sellers. The spot market ruled quiet and standy at 195, cfor middling with sales of 211 bales. The southern markets were generally quiet and easier. Galveston, Norfolk and Savannah declined 1-tic.

NEW ORLEANS, October 14—[Special]—Glenny

NEW ORLEANS, October 14-[Special] -Glenny NEW ORLEANS, October 14—[Special]—Glenny & Violett, in their cotion circular today, say: Without the support of Liverpool or New York prices here of course cannot be sustained, and with the decline in each of these markets today a corresponding decline is recorded here of 5005 points. There seems no pressure to sell, but a gradual settling of the market partly in sympathy with large receipts and partly owing to the weakness of spots, which are ½c lower. The New Orleans cotton exchange, which now publishes the weekly overland movement, shows today that the furenesse in port receipts during the past week, compared with last year, has been offset by a decrease of nearly 14,000 bales in the week's overland and an increased deficit of 11,000 bales in the inverior stocks. The net amount therefore that came into sight at all points overland, ports and the interior during last week was 317,000 bales, against 25,000 bales hast year, an actual deficit of 2,000 bales, whereas the running daily count of port receipts would indicate an increase over the same week last year; but, as said in our last report, with sentiment so largely against cotion as it everywhere is, statistics favoring a better market seems to be of one consequence at the our last report, with sentiment so largely against cotton as it everywhere is, statistics favoring a better market seems to be of no consequence at the moment, but as the same time it is well to keep them in view. Whether all markets will continue to be hammered as they have been recently remains to be seen. F. o. b. was freely offered too ay about 34c under Saturday's prices.

Spois here are easy; sales 10,500 bales: middling 34c.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, October 14—The wheat market was quiet, and the feeling steady and firm. A promi-nent local trader, who for the past few days led most of the buying and prevented further decline, was a moderate seller for December around 82½ and 82% today. There was apparently no disposi tion to sell freely; that is, to go "short" to any extent, and what was done on the selling side was mainly for quick turns. Neither was there any mainly for quick turns. Neither was there any great buying being done, but one thing noticeable was that offerings were not large, opening 160% better than Saturday's closing, and quickly advanced a trifie more, eased off 3% again became strong and raillied to outside prices, or 1/4c above inside figures, and ruled firm, closing about 1/4c higher than Saturday. Cable advices were again of a favorable tenor. It is claimed that the strength in the Liverpool market is due to some manipulation by a large trader there in California wheat. Corn—A very speculative business transacted this market, and the feeling was quiet and firm early, but later outside-prices were not fully sustained. A very good demand existed for near intures, and—as offerings were quite light, an advance followed. There was some talk of a decrease in the visible supply, which had a strengthening effect on values, also purchasing of year and near futures by prominent local seculators. Offerings for May were quite heavy at times. The market opened a shade above Saturday's closing, and advancing 160% 160% and closed 1/60% ce better than Saturday.

Outs—A slow and steady market was noted. A few outside orders were received, and local traders only gave the market passing attention, and an increase of 901,000 bushels was reported in the visible stupply. Offerings for future delivery were light, and most of the sales were at the same as Saturday's closing prices.

Mess pork—The market attiacted a little more great buying being done, but one thing noticeable and most of the sales were at the same as Saturuay's closing prices.

Mess pork—The market attracted a little more attention and trade was a little more active. October met more favor, and there was an increased bosiness reported in November and January deliveries. Prices ruled 25@-50c higher for October and 5@-75/gc higher for deferred deliveries. But outside figures were maintained. In lard a moderate trade was reported, and the feeling was steadler. In short rib sides there was only a fair trade reported, and there was no particular change to note in prices.

From an Atlanta Drummer.

Mr. A. K. Hawkes, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: You donolless remember me getting a glass of you nearly three weeks ago. I had then given up all hopes of ever being a ble to read again. The last three weeks, however, with the use of your eyerglasses my eyes have been wonderfully benefitted, and have been enabled to do a great deal of reading, the first I had done in two years, and moreover liave great hopes of their entire recovery in a few years. I cannot too highly recommend your glass to my friends. Yours respectfully,

These famous lenses can not be bought on the appointment of the carposition grounds. Sold and fitted only at Hawker optical depot, under Kimball house, 19 Decauratreet.

An Interesting Thought

200,000, 200,000 Organs, 200,000 Estey Organs,

200,000 Estey Organs have been manufactured. Think of it. Try and realize what it means. It sone crgan finished every week since Noah built

Do you suppose it would be possible, with a suffident number of men, to build a fine Reed Organ all compile in seven hours? No doubt it would, but it rould certainly require a large force of skilled men to do it. Now, if the Estey Organ company had aken so long a time as seven hours they would have had to begun before Columbus discovered America in order to complete 200,000 organs in 1888.

They have actually been building their famous Reed Organs forty years, averaging about one organ airty-five minutes. And not building them only

They have sold them. Roother organ can show such sales. What does prove? Simply that the ESTEY Organ is the faorite, that it is the best value for the money in-cated, that it has been the choice with the majority sons who have purchased organs.

You can't make any mistake ut choosing an ES TEY, for the great majority is with you.

Go to the ESTEY Organ Co.'s ware-rooms, corner Arletta and Broad streets, Atlanta, Ga. and you san be suited in price and terms. Ga. the sept 18—tf

AT THE THEATER.

The first opera of the season always draws a crowd to DeGive's, and last night's opening of the Grau company was no exception. The lovers of music and lovers of tun were out in force and the music and lovers of fun were out in force and the audience was a brilliant one.

Few managers have the right to claim an improvement in the personnel of their companies each year, indeed, the opposite tendency is the prevailing one. But it can truthfully be said that Manager Grau has by far the strongest company he has ever had, Musically it is particularly strong, including excelent principals and an excellent chorus, all under the direction of Miss Emma R. Steiner; one of the lent principals and an excellent cherus, all under the direction of Miss Emma R. Steiner; one of the Best known directors, although the only lady occupying that position.

"Virginia" is more of a burlesque than an opera of any kind. It gives but little opportunity for the musical strength of the company to show itself, but it does show that the company has several very funny and very capable comedians. Mr. Harry Brown, an old-time New York favorite; Mr. Mountjoy Walker, who has been known in comic opera and burlesque for several Nork favorite; Mr. Mountjoy Walker, who has been known in comic opera and burlesque for several years; Miss Alice Hosmer, whose tun-making last night was of the Mathilde Cottrelly order, and that is always enjoyable; and several others. There is no plot to "Virginia," so far as anybody has been able to discover, but by the good work of the comedians and some judicious interpolations it is made quite enjoyable. Still it could not be considered a big hit so far as Atlanta is concerned, although it is worth seeing.

Miss Greenwood as "Virginia" acted well, and sang all that she had to sing in a way that won the hearty approval of her audience. Her voice is sespecially good in its upper register, and her singing shows evidence of thorough cuitivation.

Miss Hosmer was funny as the infatuated grandmother. Mr. Walker was easy, graceful and funny in the role of DeVille. Mr. Brown is exceedingly funny as Needles, and doubtless will be in anything he attempts. Mr. Guiberson, Mr. Gurville and the other members of the company do well.

"Virginia" is clever and worth seeing. It will be repeated at the matinee today. Tonight the popular Casino success, "The Brigands." will be sung, "Reld by the Enemy."

Gillette's "Held by the Enemy" is to be the This drama, which has met with brilliant success in both America and England, is pronounced by the press to be the best acted of any play on the road this season, and is a thorough literary and dramatic treat in itself. A prominent southern journal says: "Every part in the play is taken by an actor or an actress, who seems to be specially adapted by nature for that particular character, so well does each one succeed in portraying his or her especial role. Held by the Enemy' is a drame, the story of which is founded upon scenes of the civil war. The story is full of incident, but not at all overdrawn. Any situation, any combination of circumstances in it, might have transpired here in this city twenty-five years ago and been noither improbable nor remarkable. Of the plot, be it enough to say that Aros, in the shape of two lovely southern girls, the Misses Susan and Rachel McCreery, triumphs over Mars, as represented by a yankee colonel, Charles Prescott, and a special correspondent and artist at the front known as Thomas Henry Bean, of Leslie's.' * * All of the characters are well defineated, and the beautiful settings and conscientions attention to details in the auxillary arrangements, even to the galloping of horses, which is remarkably true to nature, make Held by the Enemy a success and a truly delightful play for every educated theater-goer." well does each one succeed in portraying his or her
